

LABRADORITE

Labradorite clears and opens all your chakras and can help to purify your energy.

Inuit folklore claim that labradorite fell from the frozen fire of the Aurora Borealis – an ordinary stone altering to an extraordinary one in which shimmering magical light separates the waking world from the unseen realm.

Labradorites physical healing attributes include assisting with respiratory problems, bronchitis and colds being greatly beneficial for the lungs. It can also assist in metabolism and digestion regulation. It also reduces sensitivity to cold helping to alleviate symptoms of rheumatism and gout.

Emotional healing attributes of Labradorite include calming an overactive mind and helps to filter your thoughts, energizing the imagination and bringing new ideas.

Spiritually, labradorite is a powerful protector of the aura preventing energy leakage; it also stops others being able to tap into and draining your personal energy.
